

NATIONAL CYBERSECURITY SYMPOSIUM: Building Law Enforcement and Financial Services Sector Partnerships

You are invited to register for the National Cybersecurity Symposium: Building Law Enforcement and Financial Services Sector Partnerships on October 21 and 22, 2015. This event is an open house hosted by FBI, U.S. Secret Service (USSS), and the Department of the Treasury and sponsored by the Financial Services Sector Coordinating Council (FSSCC), the financial services sector's coordinator for the protection of critical financial infrastructure.

The purpose of this event is to enhance collaboration between financial services sector institutions and federal law enforcement entities on cybersecurity. Session attendees will gain further insight into the capabilities within both the FBI and USSS, a better understanding of cybersecurity threats, and information about how to incorporate collaboration with law enforcement into internal incident response plans. Collaborating with law enforcement in the event of an incident, as well as contacting the relevant financial regulatory agencies, can enhance an institution's ability to contain, mitigate, and recover from cyber incidents.
